

NITYR™ Consultation Guide

Whether you are navigating a new HT-1 diagnosis, or you have an established medication program in place, it is important to consider all nitisinone (NTBC) treatment options, and what might work best for you and your family as your needs change through life.

NITYR (nitisinone) tablets are the new treatment option to treat babies, adolescents and adults with HT-1, which may be more convenient for you and your family.

If you are considering NITYR, speak to your HCP, your dietitian or your clinic today – you don't need to wait until your next appointment. To help you get the most out of the discussion, we've gathered some common questions to ask your HCP, and a space below to make any notes.

For more information on NITYR please visit www.nityr.us

About NITYR

- What is NITYR?
- How might NITYR support my life with HT-1?
- What support comes with NITYR?

Moving from other nitisinone to NITYR

- How do NITYR and Orfadin* (nitisinone) capsules or suspension differ? Are there differences in how it works or the side effects?
- Would my medication plan change with NITYR?
- What's the best way to try NITYR?
- Can you tell me about the NITYR Diet and Low Protein Food Program¹?

Next steps

- How do I know if NITYR is covered by my insurance provider?
- How do I enroll in the NITYR Three-Week Free Trial Offer²?

Notes

The NITYR Patient Support Team can also help answer these questions.

Call today: 1-800-847-8714

For more information on NITYR please visit www.nityr.us

*Orfadin is a registered trademark, licensed by Swedish Orphan Biovitrum AB (publ) and is marketed by Sobi, Inc. ¹Diet and Low Protein Food Program: Subject to terms and conditions and eligibility criteria. This program is for eligible commercially insured patients only. Not available for government-insured patients and subject to other federal and state law.

²Free Trial Offer: Subject to terms and conditions and eligibility criteria. Eligible patients can try NITYR (nitisinone) tablets for 21 days for free as long as their doctor prescribes it. Subject to other federal and state law.

US-0116. Date of Preparation: December 2018

©2018 Cycle Pharmaceuticals Ltd. All rights reserved. NITYR™ is a registered trademark of Cycle Pharmaceuticals Limited in the United Kingdom.